

Thirteenth Annual Black History Month Essay Contest

Sponsored by the Human Relations Council of the Greater Hemet, San Jacinto and Menifee Region
Nonprofit Tax Exempt ID #33-0803034

Contest is open to all middle school, high school and college students in the San Jacinto Valley and the Menifee Valley.

Essay Topic and Format:

Celebrating Black History in the United States began in 1926, when Dr. Carter G. Woodson, a Harvard Ph.D., initiated "Negro History Week." Dr. Woodson, a historian, chose the second week in February because it included the birthdays of Frederick Douglass and Abraham Lincoln. In 1976, the Bicentennial (200th birthday) of the U.S.A., the week-long observance was extended to the entire month of February in order to have enough time for celebratory programs and activities.

As the United States celebrates National Black History Month in February, your task is to pick a person of color who illustrates the triumph of the human spirit over circumstances and prejudice in order to build a life of accomplishment. Attached is a list of possible subjects for your essay. Don't be afraid to "think outside of the box".

Any essays that do not follow the contest guidelines will be eliminated before judging.

Write your essay as an Historical Fiction:

Imagine yourself living at the time of your chosen person and being acquainted with him/her. You might be his/her child, parent, friend, boss or even an adversary. Write about him/her from your unique point of view.

Make sure that your essay includes the answers to the following questions:

1. Who is the person about whom you want to write?
2. When did he/she live?
3. What did your chosen person do to "triumph over circumstances and prejudice to build a life of accomplishment"?

Contest Rules:

The length of the essay (essays too short or too long will be eliminated from judging):

Middle School (grades 6 through 8) 300 to 500 words

High School (grades 9 through 12) 500 to 1000 words

College (Undergraduate only) 1000 to 2000 words

Home-schooled and Charter School students are also encouraged to enter – please call 951-634-4048 for entry details.

Plagiarism (copying from the Internet or someone else's essay) is strictly forbidden. If you copy, you will be disqualified from the contest. You may insert a small quote from someone else's work, but you must state who said it and where you found it.

The deadline for submission of the essay is 5:00 PM on Monday, February 13, 2017. Please submit by email to marymorse@humanrelationscouncil.com. Attach your essay to your email. If it is not possible to submit by email, please call Mary Morse at (951) 634-4048 for an alternate submission method.

Write your essay in MS Word, Notepad or Wordperfect. Please use Arial 12 font and double-space your essay. Make sure that each essay has the name of the student, home telephone number, his/her school, student phone number and email address. Also please include name of your school, your teacher or counselor, and your teacher or counselor contact phone number, as well as an email address.

All entries will become the property of the Human Relations Council of the Greater Hemet, San Jacinto and Menifee Region. Entry into the contest grants permission for Human Relations Council to release any essay to the press for publication.

Contest Judging:

The judges will not know any of the students' names or schools while they are judging. Students will be judged on their ability to address the topic, to demonstrate original, creative thinking, and to express their ideas in a clear, articulate manner. There is also an award for the best presentation which will be judged at the awards ceremony.

The judges' panel will be comprised of Human Relations Council members and other community members who are experts in Black History, long-time participants in the Civil Rights movement, sociologists, and/or educators.

Contest Prizes:

All entering students are invited to attend the Awards Ceremony during the last week of February 2017. Date, time and location will be announced soon. Every student who submits an essay will receive a Certificate of Participation which they will receive the night of the event or we will send it to them. Winning students only will be asked to present their essays at the event. Teachers, counselors, administrators and families are invited to attend. (RSVP to Mary at (951) 634-4048.)
